

Brooke Kaminski

Background

From her hometown of Marlboro New Jersey , twenty year old Brooke Kaminski came to RIT in order to pursue an education in graphic design. Her talent in graphic design is constantly expanding as she goes through her curriculum and spends time on her designs. Along with that major she is also pursuing an immersion in advertising and public relations. She hopes to use the combination of the degree and immersion to help with her work down the line.

Life at RIT

Brooke decided to come to RIT because she realized how amazing her program would be at RIT. Brooke has so far made dean's list three out of her four semesters and continues to strive in the RIT community with her class work. Along with being a dean's list student she works with the Center of Women and Gender, Public Safety, Parking and Transportation, and SportsZone all of which are very active on campus. On her free time Brooke enjoys Netflix and working on her many drawings this allows her to relax after working so much.

Her Future

As for her future, Brooke plans on graduating soon with her degree in graphic design so she can travel around the world possibly finding work in a different location. Her work would be for an agency of some kind that focuses on graphic design. She plans on finding the right agency to hire her for work. Her dream is to work for a famous agency making her dream salary and being happy with her work.
